AIDC 2025 - AUSTRALIAN X CANADIAN CO-PRODUCTION MARKET

Submission Guidelines

Are you an Australian producer looking for a Canadian co-production partner for your documentary or factual projects? Want to learn more about Canadian production companies and their development slate?

Presented by the Consulate General of Canada in Sydney with the support of Telefilm and the Indigenous Screen Office (ISO), the Australian x Canadian Co-Production Market is designed to facilitate international co-production opportunities and creative and business collaborations between Australian and Canadian producers representing their production companies and participating in AIDC 2025.

Selected Australian producers will take part in 20-minute meetings with Canadian producers representing their production companies to discuss potential projects for co-production.

The Australian x Canadian Co-Production Market is designed specifically with experienced Australian producers and production companies in mind who have the capacity to engage in official and unofficial co-production with Canada.

AIDC is inviting applications from experienced Australian producers representing an Australian production company to be considered for the Co-Production Market. The application process is simple and straightforward with applicants asked to provide a company profile, information regarding current or future projects and any history with international co-productions.

Applicants will also be asked to indicate if they:

- have current or future projects and are looking for international co-production opportunities with Canadian companies;
- or
- are looking to come on board as a co-producer for current or future Canadian projects.

Applicants do not need to purchase an AIDC pass to apply, but successful applicants will need to purchase an All Access Pass or Business Pass to participate. If selected, up to two Australian producers from the same production company may participate.

Meetings will be curated on a match-making basis with verified mutual interest from both Australian and Canadian producers with additional curatorial support from the AIDC team. Scheduled meetings will be 20 minutes in length, and will take place in person during AIDC on Sunday 2nd of March, 2025. Participating delegates will be notified of their meeting schedules in mid-February.
